Dear Mrs.

STAT

Thank you for your letters of March 8 and 13 outlining certain matters with respect to the  Labs.

Under the terms of the National Security Act of 1947 establishing the Central Intelligence Agency, it is specifically provided that, "the Agency shall have no police, subpoena, law-enforcement powers, or internal-security functions".

Since the matters you discuss are outside of the jurisdiction of this Agency, your letters have been referred to the appropriate U. S. Government authorities concerned.

Sincerely,

Assistant to the Director
